Clifton Tracy who was in charge of the Oahu Railway train which arrived in town at 5:31 yesterday afternoon says the men of his train did not start the rumor that La Paloma had been sighted off Kaena Point nor did they know anything about such a rumor until after they heard it in town.

At a meeting of the stockholders of the American-Hawaiian Paper & Supply Co., Limited, held this day, the officers resigned and new officers were elected satisfactory to Thomas B. Reynolds, the vice president and general manager of the United States Paper Export Association of New York. The business will be under the management of George G. Gull, a paper man of long experience.

Miss Gertrude Macfarlane was the guest of honor at a very delightful luncheon given by her father, Clarence W. Macfarlane, on board his yacht La Paloma a day or two before the departure of the yacht for the south to take part in the ocean yacht race to Honolulu. It was a charming affair, the host having invited a number of his friends to meet his attractive daughter.

On the day of the departure of La Paloma Miss Macfarlane and a party of friends went to the Fillmore-street wharf and waved good-by with the colors of the Hawaiian Yacht Club and her father's private signal.

In response to this a salute was fired aboard the yacht, and the international code signal "farewell" was mast-headed.—Chronicle, June 17.

REMARKABLE SAILING RACE TO ISLANDS

IRMGARD AND ARCHER LEAVE FRISCO WITHIN FEW HOURS OF EACH OTHER.

Captain Schmidt is in a quandry. He does not know whether the barkentine Irmgard won that race against the yachts or whether the barkentine Archer won it. The Irmgard arrived here yesterday afternoon 12 days and 12 hours from San Francisco. Captain Schmidt had seen nothing of the barkentine Archer during his trip to this port and it was the general assumption that the Irmgard which is the best average sailer in the island trade, had beaten the other barkentine. But wireless advices from Hilo indicate that the Archer may have won the race.

The barkentines left San Francisco the same day, the Archer having about four hours the start. They proposed to try and beat the yachts and also to beat each other. Whichever boat won has won by a narrow margin that is astonishing. It is seldom that two sailing vessels start practically together and finish "nose apart" as the turf writers put it, over a course of anywhere from 2,400 to 2,600 miles. The race just finished between the two barkentines is one of the most remarkable in the history of island shipping.

The course to Hilo is said however by seafaring men to be somewhat easier than that to Honolulu from San Francisco, although the Honolulu course is about 25 miles shorter. Not until mail advices will have been received from the Archer can the winner of the race be determined. But whichever wins, it is a case of glory enough for both.

TOOK SAILORS FROM LOCAL STEAMERS

EVERY INTER-ISLAND BOAT IN PORT YESTERDAY LOST MOST OF ITS DECK HANDS.

The island fleet of steamers suffered greatly yesterday by the exodus of natives to the mainland by the S. S. Monticola. Practically every steamer that was in port was stripped of its native deck hands and considerable difficulty was experienced by the inter-island Steam Navigation people in getting men to take the places of the sailors who left to accept the more tempting offer made to work on coast vessels.

Efforts were made by Joe Fern and other natives to persuade the sailors not to go to the mainland. It was claimed that they would be beatified by the strikers on the mainland and subjected to cruel treatment. The natives disregarded the predictions and decided they would try their luck in new climes.

It is understood that orders have been given to secure additional natives to depart by the S. S. China next week. The native sailors are being taken away to try to break the strike along the Pacific coast. The men are not to work as stevedores but upon the various steamers plying all over the Pacific coast.

A number of Portuguese tried to secure jobs but were refused as the order came to secure natives. About eighty men in all left and out of this number comparatively few were stevedores. Some were scarcely more than boys.
